

Jeremy Clarkson

Intro

Born in 1960 Jeremy Clarkson is a famous actor and car enthusiast who is most commonly known for being a co-host on top gear with his two colleges Richard Hammond, and James May.

Early Life

Jeremy Clarkson was born in Doncaster England on the 11th of April 1960. At school, he was deeply unhappy saying he was a “dirty wreck”. By the age of 16, Jeremy Clarkson Got his first job working for his parents as a travelling salesman selling Paddington bears. He later trained as a journalist with Rotherham advertiser before also making many books and then moving on to a career in TV.

TV/Career

Although most famously known for his appearance on the top gear and the Grand Tour Jeremy Clarkson has been in many unexpected shows including as far as cars and even who wants to be a million air. His TV career started in 1988 on top gear, a show where he and his two other collages raced and review cars. In 2006 (while top gear was on) he was also hired by Disney to play the never seen on camera agent, Harv in the British version of the movie. Later on, in 2007 he won a national television award for special recognition for co-hosting top gear. By 2015 Top Gear was at its peak getting an average of 350million views per episode winning the show winning a Guinness World Record for it, but sadly that was the end of top gear. It ended Jeremy called the co-producer, Oisin Tymon a lazy Irish * before punching him in the face. The incident was called a fight over steak, being caused by the lack of hot food after a cold full day of filming and at the end of that year his contract was quickly terminated, and that was the end of that. After he was fired his two collages, James May and Richard Hammond left the show saying their friendship was more important than one show (or at least that’s what they told the cameras 😬). In 2016 he was hired by Amazon to make a similar show called the Grand Tour. The Grand Tour was premiered on Amazon own Prime video. The show was held in a tent and like top gear, it was co-hosted by Jeremy Clarkson, James May and Richard Hammond. The show also had the same context the three of them would go out and race and revue cars. Later on, in 2019 he started work on a show called Clarkson’s farm. Clarkson’s farm took a massive two years to film and was about him running his own farm. In the end, it showed how hard farming really is and all the costs involved in it.

Hobbies and interests

Away from cars he also has an interest in the military buying himself a Lightning Supersonic Jet Fighter for over £30,000 ($56389 au) then using it to decorate his lawn. Sadly, later the jet was removed on behalf of the council who would refuse to believe it was a leaf blower. He has also always loved Engineering hosting BBC's Robot Wars in 1988, to the extent that he almost decapitated himself with the detached blade of the Bot "Dead Metal". On the Grand Tour, he has also built/modded many cars, quite often screwing it up in the process.

PS: on Wikipedia, there was hardly anything on his early life.
